The Big Snow

Cleaning Up

Loading up snow was a job that never stopped for town employees and contractors. They had a storm early last week, plus the snowfall Friday. As many as 60 pieces of equipment were out at one time clearing streets.

No Rush

This is how Mass. avenue looked last Friday morning at 8:30. Street lights were still on and there was no rush of commuter traffic through the Center. When it finally stopped, 25 inches of snow had fallen.

Town Digs Out From 25" Snow

Public Works crews were bracing for the next phase of New England weather at press time, water, after having battled snow, ice, wind and cold for a week.

Warmer weather usually is welcomed after a big storm; the predictions had called for rain and warmer, which could lead to another problem, that of flooding.

Meanwhile, Arlington employees, police, public works and fire were receiving praise for the fine job done in handling this fierce northeast snow storm which dumped from between 20 to 25 inches of snow on Arlington in less than 24 hours on Friday and Friday night.

Heads of the various departments praised the personnel in their departments for the fine work done; town departments praised each other for the cooperation received, the members of the Board of Selectmen and Town Manager Donald R. Marquis praised town workers for the fine job done during the storm, and many residents and those passing through the town felt that Arlington had done a good job in keeping ahead of the storm.

The long week for members of the Public Works Dept. and workers from Tree and Park Departments, who help out during such emergencies all began a week ago Tuesday, when first the snow, the rain and sleet, and finally the freeze came. Sanders were out at 5 p.m. on Tuesday and then plowing operations began later and continued into the early morning hours.

Fifty-two pieces of snow-fighting equipment were in operation early Wednesday, then came the rain, and the crews began checking catch basins and watching for flooding conditions. Later on Wednesday the freeze returned and sanding operations were started again.

At one point, according to Director of Public Works Ray Ouellette flood control operations were going on at the same time sanding was taking place in other sections.

To compound the situation before the big snow storm arrived a sewer pipe broke on Massachusetts ave. between Amsden and Windsor streets, and personnel had to be diverted to this area.

The big storm started about 3:30 a.m. on Friday and increased in intensity throughout the day and into the night. Forty-five pieces of town and contractor equipment was pressed into operation, and residents of the community, not under contract to the town, offered assistance with some of their equipment to help control the storm. As many as 60 pieces of equipment, including some of the larger pieces were in operation at one point.

Another problem, according to Ouellette, was that equipment delivering salt to the town were unable to deliver extra salt, expected to be needed. A total of 150 tons were on hand prior to the start of the Friday storm, but more was needed and the next big delivery finally arrived on Tuesday.

However, Public Works made do with what they had, and with some small deliveries during that time.

Again other problems than snow plagued the workers, as personnel had to be switched to repair water main breaks early this week on Brantwood road and Glenburn road.

Ouellette said that this storm was handled more easily than the heavy snows of 1969 because of better equipment and a continuing improvement of the snow-fighting system.

The Director pointed out the value of the five payloaders which are utilized year round, fighting snow and doing other work throughout other seasons of the year has helped tremendously.

In explaining the operation of keeping ahead of such a large storm where winds peaked to 60 miles an hour at times, Ouellette said that there are 34 plowing routes in the town and that two or three plows are utilized on each, depending on the type of snow and drifting.

He noted that first priority is keeping Massachusetts avenue open, along with Broadway and other major arteries, and another priority is keeping bus routes clear. Second priority is the plowing of the secondary streets.

Ouellette said that many times Route 2 and other major arteries have snow problems and drivers swing into Massachusetts avenue because they know it will be plowed.

Blowing of snow from along the side of the main streets started on Sunday night and was resumed again on Monday night.

School areas, parking lots and sidewalk clearing was started on Sunday, and most of this completed on that day.

Ouellette said that as many as 100 to 110 members of his and other departments helped fight the storm.

He said that he tried to assign work so that employees would be able to get some rest, and not work for too long periods. He also noted that the workers are fed at the Town Yard during working hours so that trucks wouldn't have to go long distances and time wouldn't be wasted. He said that groups of 12 to 15 workers at a time took lunch breaks.

Ouellette in his discussion of the cooperation of the various departments and personnel also had praise for the Arlington Finance Committee in its efforts to equip Arlington with the best possible snow-fighting equipment.

The Director said that flood control operation would begin as of midnight on Tuesday in preparation for any thaw and rain that might develop.

Ouellette said that rubbish will be picked up as scheduled today and Friday and that employees will work on Saturday to finish the job if necessary.

Bloodmobile At 1st Baptist Saturday

The Bloodmobile scheduled last Saturday has been rescheduled for this Saturday from 10 to 4 at First Baptist Church.

All residents are invited to contribute blood. Normal use in the Boston area is 1500 pints a day. The recent storm has increased demand and decreased supply, so all donations are welcome.

ZBA Hearings

On Tuesday night, starting at 8 p.m., the Zoning Board of Appeals will hear three petitions for special permits and/or variances for Medi Mart Division of Stop and Shop to erect a sign at the old A&P; for Pleasant Street Congregational Church to subdivide the lot at 75 and 87 Pleasant St.; and for Tri Community Health Services to use 87 Pleasant St. as an office.

On Feb. 7 starting at 8 the board will hear petitions from Oxford Development Corp. which plans a building project in a flood plain district on Mill street and renovation of a house at 24 Central St. into a duplex; and a petition by Dr. Helen M. Herzan to build a carport at 226 Pleasant St.

Redevelopment Board Schedule

On Feb. 6 the Redevelopment Board will hold an environmental design review hearing of the Oxford Development project on Mill street. Hearings on the use of Community Development Block Grants funds will be held by Selectmen on Feb. 13 and 27 and attended by Redevelopment Board members.

Hearings on zoning articles filed for the Town Meeting will be held March 6. In addition to its own seven articles, the board will hear three 10 registered voter articles.

These articles would rezone the Route 2 PUD zone for two-family housing, change the maximum height limits for Mill street, and change the zoning of 267 Broadway. Abutters have been notified on all of these articles.

Pond Lane Traffic

After discussion of the traffic problems in the Wellington street-Pond lane area where recreational fields, tennis courts, the Boys' Club and Elks Home are located, the Redevelopment Board voted to have a consultant do a preliminary study of traffic and circulation in the area.

The matter was brought up for discussion by board member Irving Stein who identified himself as a director of the Boys' Club. He expressed his concern that with the club planning to expand for girls the traffic problems will get worse; or, because of the existing traffic problems, the club might get turned down for permits to construct an addition.

Board members also talked about lighting the existing parking along the pond, providing better pedestrian access to that parking, moving the fence along the field to add diagonal parking and looking at other open spaces and the town's recreational needs as a whole.

Transportation

A request from the Council on Aging to meet with the Board of Selectmen to discuss an experimental program for transportation of the handicapped has been referred to the Town Manager, who in turn will refer the matter to the Dept. of Human Resources.

The cost of such an experimental program would be in the amount of $6,200, to be funded from the Community Development Block Grant Program, special revenue sharing.

Licences Granted

Second-hand dealer licenses have been granted to several Arlington business by Selectmen.

Included are the following businesses, Something Extra, Second-Tyme Around, Aardvark, Maryanne's Antiques, and Mill Brook Antique.

The board also granted two other licenses to businesses in town, including Ohanian Upholstery and Arlington TV and Radio.

Arlington Sign

Representatives of Arlington service clubs planning the erection of a sign in Arlington Center met with Selectmen recently.

The sign which will be located in the triangle just west of the Central Fire Station will welcome people to Arlington, and give a brief history of the town.

Also included on the sign will be the insignias of six Arlington service clubs. These include Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary and Zonta.

Plans call for the sign to be freestanding and constructed of wood. It will be double-faced, carved and gold leafed.

The sign will be held up by redwood posts. The sign itself will be five and one-half feet by three feet nine and one-half inches.

In addition to the insignias, the sign will have the wording welcome to Arlington Menotomy, settled in 1635; incorporated in 1807; and named Arlington in 1867 and Birthplace of Uncle Sam.

Shoveling

As if there isn't enough snow to shovel on the sidewalks, some people have roofs to worry about. The footing isn't so sure, but the view of the white stuff is great from the roof of McAvoy-Gaffey Funeral Home.

Storm Sidelights

Despite the weather warnings prior to and during Friday many decided to brave the elements and ended up having their cars towed. Community Safety Director Robert Blomquist said that upwards of 100 cars were towed during and after the storm because they were in the way of snow-clearing operations.

Police are contacted by Public Works when such cars are in the way. Police then make an all-out effort to contact the owners of the cars before they are towed, according to Police Division Director John Carroll.

Carroll said that 50 or 60 vehicles destined to be towed were not because police were able to contact the owners so the vehicles could be moved. He said that 40 cars were towed during the height of the storm.

The director said that owners of cars towed could reclaim them by contacting the police station and describing the car and where it was parked.

Most of the towed cars were taken to the former Schwamb Company area near Ryder street.

Fire Division Director Warren French said that personnel from four engine companies and two ladder trucks were out starting on Saturday clearing hydrants throughout the community. There are between 1300 and 1400 hydrants in the community and about 90 percent of these had been cleared by Monday night.

Director French said that the groups were out between 9-11:30 a.m., 1-4:30 and 7-11 p.m. clearing the snow from the hydrants. He urged residents to clear hydrants near their homes whenever possible, emphasizing that it is for their own protection.

He also reminded private contractors and those with small plows to be careful about pushing snow into areas where there are hydrants.

Radio equipment came in for extra use during the storm. Public Works borrowed some portable radios from the Police Division to be used in trucks and Fire scanners were used Sunday urging residents to clear areas around hydrants and also to announce that there was no school on Monday.

Although the no school period couldn't compare with the number of days when school was called due to the big 1969 storm, Arlington residents had several days off during the past few days.

There was no school on Jan. 18 because of the snow, sleet, and rain storm, and no school on Jan. 20 and 23 because of the snow storm. In addition there was no school at the Hardy School on Jan. 19 because of a heating problem.

"Our personnel really responded to the emergency and everyone that could make heroic efforts to get here and keep the hospital functioning. They really did an outstanding job to make things run smoothly during the storm," Administrator Roger Dvorak of Symmes Hospital said.

He indicated that some people worked double shifts, and some stayed overnight and worked the next day. He noted that there is a residence house for those who wished to stay. About eight or nine stayed. Assistance was also rendered by volunteers who lived close to the hospital.

"We got through the weekend better than I thought we would," Dvorak said. He indicated that Friday night and Saturday morning were the worst times.

Dvorak said that Friday was not an unusually busy day. Saturday was very busy in the emergency ward with a number of minor storm related injuries.

Daniel Callahan at the Arlington Post Office said that there were a lot of problems on most routes and that most went out but came back to the office unable to make deliveries. He indicated that Friday and Saturday were both bad days.

William LeBeau of the Post Office thought that the public could help in keeping the sidewalks and streets clear. He noted the danger of mail personnel slipping and hurting themselves on icy steps. He also noted that the previous Wednesday one mailman fell on icy steps covered by light snow and broke three ribs.

Housing Authority Director Joan Gross said, "Snow removal is a tremendous problem, but our men did a magnificent job; they worked right straight through to keep the lots clear." She explained that the Authority does its own snow removal.

She noted some of the problems, people leaving their cars in the wrong places, noting that there is only one space for each apartment in family units, and that some people have more than one car, and took other spaces.

"Our first priority is to keep the emergency exits open in elderly residential areas."

Collins' Corner by Leonard Collins

The New Champ

Over 60 years ago the Arlington Public Works Department, for snow removal, used horses and puns. They never were stuck in the drifts, and many times they pulled a few motor vehicles that were in trouble. No parking tickets, no towing, just a nice peaceful friendly village to think about during last week's record storm.

There's a saying that all records are made to be broken, and the past week we here in Arlington saw a new champion being honored or dishonored, depending on your choice, with the arrival last Friday of a real major league snow storm. Taking a peek back to 1961 on Jan. 19 the worst storm Washington had ever witnessed took place and the city was demoralized in more ways than most any other community in the nation, as it was day before the Inauguration of John F. Kennedy. The severity of the storm resulted in the biggest traffic tieup in the city's history and caused long delays to guests in reaching the pre-inaugural activities, such as the Governors' Reception, Distinguished Ladies' Reception, the Symphony concert at Constitutional Hall and many other events being staged in connection with the Inaugural celebration.

The writer flew down the day before to visit his sister who lived in Arlington, Va., and until the storm here last Friday always felt the one back in Washington was tops. The last order by President Eisenhower was the calling out of the troops and they worked all night so that the parade up Pennsylvania avenue could be held, and when it came time to proceed the route was spotless with not a sign that there had been any snow.

One could not but think that they sure could have used the know-how of our town Public Works Dept. in snow clearance. The Army saved the day. On the night before about 5, it seemed nothing in the area of transportation was moving and with all the hotels filled with visiting folks from all over the country dressed up in their finery, going to the many festivities in the city. In other words, "all dressed up and nowhere to go." No taxis, buses, automobiles to be had, lobbies jammed with beautiful gowned ladies peeking out in the white scene in the streets.

The Hotel Willard was the home of visitors from the deep South, and around 5 p.m. as the writer waited, he could hear from many in the lobby saying with that rich Southern drawl, "AHHave never seen snow like this before! Ah think it is beautiful." That was at 5 p.m. and every half hour on the half hour they came from the lounges and took a look, and went back to their favorite watering booths. And at 9 p.m. they were still peeking out, only with not the great vision they had at 5 p.m. And with each march into the foyer, the gowns were a bit rumpled and many were enjoying the evening and one group were singing "Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow."

The next day was bitterly cold and thousands who didn't get to the events the night before, didn't sit in their choice seats in the stands along Pennsylvania Avenue. One Senator offered the door man at his hotel $100 if he would get him a cab, and the gentleman replied, "Senator, if you gave me one million I just couldn't find a taxi." Many of the events were by invitation and many more by purchasing tickets, and hundreds were later taken home as souvenirs.

So, until last Friday I thought the storm in 1961 was No. 1, but as they say in sports, "We're No. 1" and a new champ. An automobile was stuck in Arlington the day of the storm and on the rear bumper was a sign that said "Think Snow," and the writer wondered what the driver was thinking.

The last storm Director of Public Works Ray Ouellette mentioned all the telephone calls he received, and how many are calling "wolf." One guesses human nature never changes too much because some years back after a big storm dozens of calls were received and all were emergencies, especially callers just about to become mothers, but a check at Symmes Hospital disclosed that in that short period only two births were recorded, and two Arlington Police Officers delivered one baby. So shall we say the others were unduly alarmed, or did they have a bridge date and needed to get the car out?

That Man About Town

Last week wasn't selectman candidate Joseph Todisco's week. First a headline in error said that his fundraiser was Saturday when it was last Thursday. He reports that 300 people attended anyway, and that another party will be held Feb. 5 at the VFW.

Then we chastized him for writing the previous week, "I am shocked when reading the town's proposed budget for next year which among other things suggests the consolidation of our public libraries into one and a major decrease in the operations of the Arlington Youth Consultation Center. . . ." We quoted from the town performance budget book reference to those suggestions which explained that they came out of a management exercise in which interest groups in a hypothetical community that ran out of money had to take drastic steps to cut the budget.

Todisco says his information came from a memo written by the Town Manager (to Selectmen and Finance Committee members) which accompanied the line item budget. The memo said, "The following areas must be analyzed objectively in the future as we work through the budget process;" then the seven budget reduction ideas from the management workshop were listed as being "neither exhaustive nor cast in stone," but representative of the collective thinking of department heads and management staff.

Todisco says he did not take the budget suggestions out of context from the budget book, which he did not see. He adds that he did not say that the libraries would be consolidated, but that this was suggested according to how he read the manager's memo.

Residents who want to hear Todisco and the other candidates for the three-year terms, Robert Walsh and Ann Powers, are invited to First Parish Church tonight at 8:30 for a forum sponsored by the Arlington Jaycees.

This is what we recently read: the planning board wants to commission a $5,000 study of the center which needs more variety of stores. The center has enough banks, travel offices, insurance firms, discount drug stores, beauty shops and eating establishments. Consumers want quality merchandise at good prices. Parking is needed. Employees take the existing parking spaces. Some officials feel that a parking garage should be built. Something must be done to make the center a place where people want to come.

It may come as a shock to Arlingtonians who love to say "Look at Lexington Center," but those comments were written about Lexington Center in an editorial that appeared in a recent Lexington Minute-man. The only thing we can say is that if Lexington Center is in need of help, Arlington urgently needs attention.

Some interesting items in last week's Lexington news: the School Committee voted to close a school in June and the town manager calls the Middlesex County budget hike which will mean an $1.80 increase on the Lexington tax rate a "rip off."

Town Treasurer John Billafer received official notification of the county-budget impact on Arlington (remember this is the budget for the year which started last July). The town is ordered to pay $1,190,516.31 to the county in two equal payments on Jan. 30 and May 1. This is an increase of $180,276.89 in assessment. The county budget impact on Arlington has almost doubled since 1967.

Sen. Sam Rotondi had a verbal disagreement with one of the county commissioners about the budget the night that the legislative session ended. He feels that county government is too subtle. Communities should be able to veto the county budget, Rotondi says. Gov. Michael Dukakis proposed this in his state of the state address and Rotondi expects legislation will be filed to provide for local approval. If the House and Senate pad our county budget and then pass it, we can't imagine their turning around and voting to let the cities and towns reject the budget. The County Advisory Committee made up of communities' representatives couldn't even get a budget reduction passed.

According to figures put together by Sen. Rotondi, the communities will be paying an additional $4,376,946.78 to support the county this year. Much of the increase is due to new jobs which were created, plus job upgrades and salary increases. We've heard from several sources that some of those jobs will be held by former legislators after the redistricting next year.

Here's your chance to have a say in town government. There are Town Meeting seats going begging. Deadline for taking out papers is today at 5 p.m. In Pct. 1 there are no candidates for the one- and two-year terms. In Pcts. 6 and 13 there are no candidates for the one-year seats. Many of the three-year terms are not going to be contested, and in Pcts. 3, 4, 5, 10, 13 and 14 there are not as many candidates as there are vacancies.

Most residents have been appreciative of the tough job town employees had in cleaning up after the recent storm. We got one complaint which we checked into. Someone wanted to know why the town had plows and trucks clearing snow from the sidewalk in front of three private homes on Forest street. The sidewalk is one of the approved walks for kids to take to school. Because of the narrowness of the walk, when the sidewalk plows removed the snow it fell into the street; and because Forest street is narrow, the snow had to be picked up.

After hearing the trouble police and public works people had getting cars to move so that plowing could be done, we thought of a solution which might not have been tried. Instead of knocking on doors, they could broadcast over a mobile public address system that cars should be moved or they would be towed. It may not get the cars moved, but it would get neighbors to their windows so that they can see who is causing the problems which result in some streets not being plowed as well as they should be.

We understand that a number of groups which sponsor occasional dinners and food sales are concerned about the town by-law which passed the fall Town Meeting to license food vendors. The Selectmen's office says the intent of the by-law was to control the retail take-out food places that sell food day to day. Before the regulations there was little the town could do about the sanitation, litter, traffic and other problems which some places create. Town Counsel Joseph Purcell has been asked to give the Selectmen a ruling on who will be affected by the by-law and if it means that church suppers and bake sales must be licensed.

LWV Clarification

TO THE EDITOR:

The League of Women Voters of Arlington would like to correct a statement made in The Arlington Advocate of Jan. 19 in the article on Community Development Block Grants.

The League has made no "charges that the town has withheld or somehow misused federal funds." In an article in the League's January Bulletin concerning the Council on Aging, the League was reporting to its membership some of the concerns the Council on Aging had about the Community Development Block Grants. In this article the reference was to the transferring of funds to the Broadway project was discussed at a Selectmen's meeting of Dec. 5 as reported in The Arlington Advocate of Dec. 8, 1977, and as discussed by the Council on Aging.

The LWV regrets the confusion our article has caused and wants to emphasize that the League was not making any accusations—only reporting on concerns of the Council on Aging.

Sincerely,
Sandra L. Frohman
President

Pro-Life

TO THE EDITOR:

It's too bad that more "pro-choice" people didn't hear Prof. Hadley Arkes, chairman of the political science dept. of Amherst College, speak at last Sunday's Pro-Life Rally at Faneuil Hall.

His logic separates the pro and con of abortion from strictly a religious issue (which proponents insist it is) to a moral-legal issue which it should be. He explored the question of justification in taking a human life.

It is also too bad that the media focuses on sensationalism. Inevitably, Bill "what's-his-name" got the interviews while the beautiful family scene inside Faneuil Hall was all but ignored.

In fairness to Channel 5, they at least were visible throughout the ceremony, but editing all but eliminated their coverage. The Herald American had a lengthy piece but head-lined it as though "Bill and his maniacal band" were the reason for the rally.

Governor Dukakis and his rubber-stamps in the House and Senate had better beware because the people have had it with their misrepresentation.

Here's a word to MAT regarding his advice to voters who are unhappy with Rotondi and his pro-abortion voting record. Intelligent people should investigate his voting record. He not only voted that our tax dollars should pay for abortions, but also voted for gay rights, forced busing and liberalization of divorce laws, to mention a few. (He voted the above in spite of his pro-family, pro-life words.)

I don't consider all these things to be one issue. Incidentally, I've heard rumors that MAT was Rotondi's campaign manager. Is this true? How about coming out in the open and identifying yourself. Isn't it easy to cast aspersions when one is anonymous?

On a final happy note, once again our annual Pro-Life Dance is sold out. I never thought I'd have to apologize for selling out; but we were besieged for tickets before we had a chance to call friends who have attended past dances. Suddenly, there were no tickets left.

We do thank you for your loyal support and are looking forward to a lovely time.

Most Sincerely,
Irene R. Regan
20 Pelham Terr.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Offhand we don't know who Sen. Rotondi's campaign manager was. However, we think that what happened at the State House this past year, with the conviction of two senators, charges of corruption, court reform, the questionable state budget surplus, is of interest to residents.

At the close of the legislative session we made an appointment with Sen. Rotondi to tell our readers what he saw and what he did during his first year on the hill. That interview will appear within the next couple of weeks.

Youth Salute

TO THE EDITOR:

It is wonderful to see the youth of Arlington getting recognition for their positive actions. We should be more familiar with the efforts of young people like the young women featured in The Arlington Advocate's Jan. 12 issue.

Too often only the negative deeds of youth are reported. Certainly the youth are the most ignored and neglected group in the town. Unfortunately this is partially because the energies of these people are not directed. More effort should be made to help young people direct their actions.

The Arlington Salutes Its Youth Committee highlights the activities of the youth in Arlington. However, this year I hope that the bumper stickers issued for their week long celebration will have the word "youth" in larger print than the word "Arlington." It is the youth who are the focal point of the week and they should be recognized, not the Town of Arlington.

Yours truly,
Denise Hayes

Parenting

TO THE EDITOR:

I wish to express my thanks to Ed Rogers of the Thompson School and his wife, Sheila, for presenting a six-week "parenting" course based on Rudolf Dreikurs' book, "Children: The Challenge."

It's a terrific course which is very worthwhile for all parents to partake in. I hope that Mr. and Mrs. Rogers can offer this course again, because so much knowledge can be gained about our children, the individuals.

Cordially,
Judy Yurewicz

Snow Days

TO THE EDITOR:

I am a student at Arlington High School. If the weather keeps up in this manner, we will not be released from school until mid-July. As of now, we will not be released until June 26. I have heard of many neighboring towns that have done away with February vacation to give us a longer summer vacation.

We have three choices: 1. Do away with February vacation completely and have one week vacation in April. 2. To have three days vacation in February and two days vacation in April. 3. Vice versa: have two days vacation in February and three days vacation in April.

I think the first choice is the best, because it is so expensive to be shutting off the heat and for such a trivial cause.

Most of us cannot foresee summer ever coming again, but when it does come, I hope to enjoy it to its fullest.

A Tribute

TO THE EDITOR:

I first met Miss Dorothy Rounds when I first came to Arlington High School in 1964. My professional and personal relationship with her until her retirement in 1968 was a most enjoyable and meaningful one.

She rekindled my love for Latin and the classics and emphasized for me the importance of the study of Latin and the classics. I often thought of her after her retirement and on a few occasions did see and speak with her.

I cherish a chance meeting I had with her a few years ago on the MBTA traveling from Harvard Square to Arlington. I was accompanied by one of my sons, and in the course of our meeting, she enthusiastically conversed with him on the merits of studying Latin and the classics, as only she could do. I know she made a lasting impression on many of her students and colleagues. I will fondly remember Miss Dorothy Rounds, and will miss her presence, although I know she will always be with us in spirit.

Thank You

TO THE EDITOR:

A sincere thank you to the Arlington Fire Division Rescue Squad and the Police Division for the fast and efficient manner in which they responded to the recent emergency at my home. We will be eternally grateful.

Thank Rescue

TO THE EDITOR:

May I, through The Advocate, express my deepest gratitude to the men of the Rescue Squad, and to the policeman who answered our call on Sunday morning, Nov. 27.

I was visiting my sister in Arlington for the Thanksgiving holiday. (My home is in New Jersey) And, as the result of a fall, I needed the services of the Rescue Squad to take me to Symmes Hospital.

Arlington is indeed fortunate to have these men to call upon in every emergency.

Gratefully,

FinCom Schedules Hearings On Articles

The Finance Committee has started its schedule of hearings on warrant articles which will be acted upon at the 1978 Annual Town Meeting.

The Finance Committee, headed by Richard Fanning, makes recommendations on all articles which involve the expenditure of money, and on any other articles — except zoning articles — on which it wishes to do so. Hearings are held in the Hearing Room on the second floor of the Town Hall.

Proponents of articles will be notified of the hearings. Anyone wishing to appear in opposition to any article, or to present a different viewpoint on any article, should contact the Committee's Executive Secretary, Richard E. Smith, 38 Washington St., to ensure that sufficient time will be available for the presentation of all viewpoints.

It is also suggested that anyone planning to attend any hearing verify times with Smith, since schedule changes are sometimes necessary. Written material of proponents or opponents should be submitted to Smith as early as possible so that committee members may have an opportunity to study it before the hearing. Twenty-two copies should be furnished. Estimates of dollar amounts required for an article, if applicable, and an explanation of how the figures were arrived at, are required. If written material is not furnished, parties may be asked to return for a re-hearing after materials have been prepared.

The schedule of hearings follows:

Wednesday, Feb. 1:

8:15 p.m., Article 79, to raise a sum for the use of the Broadway Historic District Commission.

8:30 p.m., Article 127, a 10 registered voter article, to raise $2,500 for maintaining a display of American flags along Mass. Ave. on seven holidays.

8:45 p.m., Article 105, a 10 registered voter article to accept a General Law providing that the Town will pay half the premium costs of certain insurance for surviving spouses of employees or retired employees of the Town.

9:00 p.m., Article 106, a 10 registered voter article to raise a sum to indemnify the Building Inspector for legal costs incurred by him in a court case against the town.

Saturday, Feb. 4:

9:15 a.m., Article 54, to increase the compensation paid to certain Elected Part-Time Town Officials.

9:30 a.m., Article 110, to accept gifts to be invested to accumulate a sum to be used by the Town for the Tricentennial Celebration.

9:45 a.m., Article 109, to establish a committee to consider adoption of a standard of responsibility for Town Meeting Members.

10 a.m., Article 72, to raise a sum to pay rent for facilities used by the Council on Aging, and Article 73, to raise a sum to pay the Town's share of the operating costs of Minuteman Home Care Corporation for the Elderly.

10:15 a.m., Article 26, to upgrade the pay classification of the Executive Secretary of the Council on Aging.

10:30 a.m., Articles 27 to 38, submitted by the Personnel Board, to upgrade and number of pay classifications, to redesignate others, and to implement a new Wage and Salary Program.

11:15 a.m., Articles 39 to 42, submitted by the Town Treasurer, to add new positions to the Classification Plan.

11:45 a.m., Articles 104, 25, 84, and 82, submitted by the Contributory Retirement Board, authorizing advance payments to employees eligible for retirement, adding a new position to the Classification Plan, adjusting pensions of certain former Town employees, and implementing a special fund for retirement purposes.

1:15 p.m., Article 78, to pay the Town's share of the cost of the Minuteman Regional Vocational Technical School District.

1:45 p.m., Article 128, to provide suitable quarters for Arlington Barracks 2701, Veterans of World War I.

2 p.m., Article 102, to increase the fee for rabies inoculations from $1 to $2.

2:15 p.m., Article 71, to raise a sum for the use of the Board of Directors of Youth Services.

Monday, Feb. 6:

8 p.m., Articles 113 and 114, to raise sums for the Christmas Lighting and Decorating Program, and for expenses of the Committee.

8:15 p.m., Articles 75 and 74, to raise sums to complete minor repairs and renovations within Peirce School, and to repair the roof of the old gymnasium at Otis Junior High School, both submitted by the School Committee.

8:30 p.m., Article 76, to discharge certain committees and assign their duties to the Permanent Town Building Committee.

8:45 p.m., Article 77, to raise a sum to satisfy an arbitration award and other claims and to correct latent deficiencies at Otis Junior High School Addition.

9 p.m., the Board of Selectmen and the Town Manager will discuss the various articles they have put into the Warrant.

Car Fire

Firefighters from Belmont and Arlington battled flames that spread completely through the 1965 sedan belonging to Peter Kehrig of Newton Sunday morning on Rte. 2 eastbound, on the middle of the bridge over Lake street. Reports from passing motorists with Citizen's Band radios notified several neighboring fire departments. Belmont responded at 11:51 a.m. with one engine and called for another at 11:56. Firemen worked for almost an hour. (Photo by Rose Bagdasarian)

24-Hr. Marathon In Basketball Set At Boys' Club

At 6 p.m. on Feb. 11, the Arlington Boys' Club's Second Annual Basketball Marathon Game will begin. It will continue for 24 consecutive hours with the final shots to the basket being taken at 6 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 12.

The fund raiser is being co-sponsored by the Boys' Club Flyers Basketball Teams and the Leaders Club. Members, parents and friends of the Boys' Club are needed as participants, either as players in one of the three-hour periods or as sponsors of a player.

Each participant is required to have at least 15 people sponsor him or her at anywhere from a penny to a dollar for each point scored or for a straight donation.

Last year, 134 men, women, boys and girls played in the game and scored an average of 52 points each. The goal of the Marathon last year was to raise enough money for a new electric scoreboard for the gym. This was accomplished due to the hard work of the players and the generosity of the sponsors.

Chris Dynan had 7 points, Mary Maytum 6 Wendy Adamian and end-Nancy Cutone 2; all are sophomores.

Freshmen Kathy Gunter had five points, Susan Marble 4 and Sharon Lowmy 2.
